

International Nurses Day Celebration at DTU

On May 10th, the DTU Faculty of Nursing held a celebration for International Nurses Day at the DTU K7/25 Quang Trung campus. The event commemorates the birthday of Florence Nightingale, the founder of modern nursing.

Dr. Nguyen Ngoc Minh delivers a speech at the ceremony

Opening the ceremony, Associate Prof. Dr. Nguyen Ngoc Minh, DTU Vice provost, said: “The International Nurses Day celebration is a special occasion for us to honor one of the professions of Medicine of high moral value, and to respect community health care providers. A better understanding about the career you are pursuing will give you much encouragement for your study and research to become talented, kind-hearted nurses. In the coming time, the DTU Faculty of Nursing will hold many more activities to help students improve their qualifications and professional skills.”

DTU students of the Nursing Faculty recite the Florence Nightingale Pledge at the event

A lot of songs and dances about the homeland, schools and friends performed by Nursing demonstrated their enthusiasm, desire and dedication to the welfare of those committed to their care. At the event, DTU students of the Nursing Faculty recited the Florence Nightingale Pledge to commit to “faithfully practice” her profession and to practice proper ethical values.

Previously, the DTU Faculty of Nursing launched the “Writing about Nursing” contest to celebrate the 2015 International Nurses Day May 12th.
