Students from Danang universities and colleges attended “A Music Festival of Student Dormitory Bands”, at the DMC Dormitory on March 20th.

All lights in the dormitory were extinguished to celebrate Earth Hour 2014, and the music festival began with comical Flash mod dancing. Suddenly, the stage erupted to the sound of an impressive fireworks display and thousands of students shouted and cheered.

Each band had a different musical style and created a sparkling music concert. Loud rock songs, beat boxing performances and exotic dancing turned the audience frenetic. Non-stop action made the music festival hotter and hotter!

Nguyen Thi Thanh Thuy, a student of K18QTC, said: “This is really a wonderful music festival for students living in the dormitory and a useful way of escaping the stress of hours of learning. This evening is also an opportunity for us to exchange ideas and make friends. I hope that we can do this again.”

“A Music Festival of Student Dormitory Bands” gave students a way to display their talents and brought together students from many of the different universities in Danang.
